STATE HIGHWAY
BODY TAKES UP
BRIDGE MATTER

Signs Contract For Construction of Underpass Between City and the Bridge

MEMORIAL NAME PROPOSED

Com. Kitchen Introduces Resolution to Name Bridge N. D.
Memorial Bridge

Steps were taken by the state highway commission, in meeting late yesterday, toward the completion of work in connection with the new Missouri river vehicular bridge here.

A contract between the Northern Pacific railroad company, Burleigh county and the state highway commission was formally signed in the meeting, providing for the construction of an underpass of the Northern Pacific railroad between Bismarck and the new bridge. Under the agreement, the railroad is to pay one-half the cost of constructing the underpass and Burleigh county is to pay one-half, with Burleigh county expecting that the project will be made a federal aid project and that most of the funds for the county's share will be obtained from the government and the state highway commission, it was stated.

It was stated at the meeting that the railroad had drawn the contract, had ordered some material needed for the underpass and was prepared to begin work soon.

Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor Kitchen introduced a resolution proposing that the bridge be named the North Dakota Memorial bridge. This name was first proposed in the American Legion here and the proposal by the American Legion state convention in Jamestown.

The commission decided to meet again next Friday, inviting the members of the boards of county commissioners to meet with the commission to arrange definitely for filling in the approach on the western side of the river. An agreement was made April 13, 1920, for constructing an earthen approach leading to the concrete approach to the bridge proper, but nothing has been done along this line and there has been objection raised by Morton county to the proposed plan.

No Action on Road Work.

No action is expected to be taken by the state highway commission in the near future regarding the expansion or curtailment of road building projects in the state this year. The view is understood to have been expressed in the commission meeting that since all projects have their inception with the counties the initiative must come from the counties. Governor Nestos in a letter sent to county auditors this week, brought the matter of curtailment of road work before the county boards for discussion and consideration.

COURT FIGHT NEAR TO SAVE KLAN

MRS. ELIZABETH TYLER AND (ABOVE) EDWARD YOUNG CLARKE AND (BELOW) WILLIAM J. SIMMONS, LEADERS OF THE FACTION OF THE KU KLUX KLAN THAT IS BEING ATTACKED IN THE COURTS.

By NEA Service.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 7.—Two opposing factions of the Invisible Empire, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, are locked in a court fight for control of the weird order.

The one faction is headed by Imperial Wizard William J. Simmons, Imperial Klingle, Edward Young Clarke and Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler.

The other is made up of 176 members of the Klan whom the Simmons-Young-Tyler group characterize as "rebels." They are headed by Harry B. Terrell, Lloyd B. Hooper, F. W. Aikin and A. J. Padon, Jr., former grand goblins.

January 25 has been set as the date of the decisive battle in the superior court of Fulton county, Ga.

The "rebel" faction, in a suit, has demanded receivership of all properties, funds, documents and records of the Klan.

Charges in Suit.

This faction charges:

THAT the Klan is in a shaky financial condition due to $25,000 outstanding debt represented by bonds held by Klan members.

THAT Clarke and Mrs. Tyler have turned the Klan into an instrument for the dissemination and propagation of hatred and prejudice.

Charges Are Denied.

Imperial Wizard Simmons officially denies these charges.

He says:

"It is a desperate attempt on the part of disgruntled and discharged employees, joined by their small following to gain control of the organization."

The attack on Clarke is merely a reiteration of charges previously made which have been investigated and found to be unjust and untrue.

Judge John T. Pendleton has granted a temporary injunction restraining the Klan from disposing of any of its property or disbursing money except for ordinary expenses, not including salaries.

This latter was modified to allow payment of salaries to clerks, stenographers and office employees.

But salaries of officials cannot be paid.

EMMONS COUNTY TO BUILD ONLY
GOOD HIGHWAYS

To Retrench and Discontinue Work on Road Work Which Will Not Last

Emmons county is planning to concentrate on the building of permanent roads only in the next year, according to B. E. Tong, county superintendent of highways, who was in Bismarck today.

Emmons county has spent an average of $70,000 a year for the last ten years on roads. Mr. Tong said, most of which was for temporary work which necessitates rebuilding every few years. The county officials plan to retrench on road building next year, but expects to build 20 miles of federal aid permanent road.

This year the county completed the road from Linton to the Burleigh county line, a wide graded federal aid project, with gravel at points where most needed. The total length of the road is 29 miles, 13 miles of which was completed this year, giving Emmons county what is claimed to be the best long stretch of highway in the state. The first 16 miles of road cost the county which pays half the cost, about $1,740 a mile and the latter 13 miles about $2,500 a mile. Much filling and cutting was necessary in the work.

Mr. Tong is working on survey and design for ten miles of road from Linton to Strasburg which is expected to be built next year. The present program of the county calls for the project and in additional miles, with other work discontinued.

ADJUSTMENT IN RAIL RATES IS SOUGHT FOR N. D.

Specific Aid to Certain Industries and on Commodities
Asked By Commission

HEARING IN WASHINGTON

State More Interested in Specific Benefits Than General
Decreases Says Expert

Efforts of North Dakota Commercial bodies and representatives of the state railroad commission are, with respect to freight rates, to be directed more to a readjustment of rates affecting various industries and commodities in the state as contemplated by the Esch-Cummings act.

Decreases amounting to great sums to shippers have been made effective January 1, according to V. E. Smart, state expert of the railroad commission. These include: Wheat and flour freight rate, decrease by one-half of the 35 per cent increase of August 26, 1920; rates on barley, oats, corn, coarse grains cut to a new basis 10 per cent lower than the basis of flour and wheat rates; livestock, potatoes and other farm vegetables, reduced 10 per cent effective January 1. These are temporary orders, effective until July 1.

Mr. Smart left today for Washington bearing with him resolutions of the Commercial Clubs of Bismarck, Jamestown, Fargo, Larimore and Minot, asking for readjustments and reductions in freight rates. These will be presented to a committee representing western states, which will use them in the hearing before the interstate commerce commission beginning January 11 on the subject of a general decrease in railroad freight and passenger rates.

Specific Questions Up.

The most pressing questions for North Dakota, according to Mr. Smart, are rates affecting specific industries and certain commodities where readjustments are necessary to equalize competition outside the state. He gave as an example that there is a fine gravel pit south of Mandan but that under the present freight rates gravel is being brought into North Dakota from near Crookston, Minn.

Another question to be brought before the interstate commerce commission on behalf of North Dakota is the freight rate between St. Louis, Mo., and other points and Fargo, Grand Forks, Bismarck and other distributing points in North Dakota. Readjustment of these freight rates is held to be a matter of placing distributing firms in North Dakota on an equal basis with outside firms in roofing paper and building papers. North Dakota joins with South Dakota in this matter.

Mr. Smart will stop in Chicago on January 10 to attend a discussion of changes in western classification rates, and will be in Washington also at the time of argument on the case before the interstate commerce commission in which the express companies seek a higher intrastate rate in North Dakota.

Rail Expenses High.

While the Interstate Commerce Commission will consider the question of a general reduction North Dakota is interested in certain adjustments to be made regardless of other action, Mr. Smart said. He pointed out that the operating reports of the Great Northern railroad for October showed operating expenses to be 63.1 per cent of operating revenues while the average for the ten months ending October was 61.7. The ratio was reduced during October because of the heavy movement of grain and other products, but is very high for the remainder of the time, he said. The same situation exists with regard to other roads. The railroads will contend that these operating reports show that the difference between receipts and expenses is not sufficient to permit a general reduction.

DEBATE IS NEARING END

Predicted That Vote Soon Will Be Reached in Dail on the Treaty Question

BULLETIN

TREATY RATIFIED

Dublin, Jan. 7.—Dail Eireann tonight voted for ratification of treaty, creating Irish free state. Vote was sixty-four to fifty-seven.

GRIFFITH SEES SUCCESS

Dublin, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—The Dan Egan adjourned this afternoon until 7:30 o'clock. It is expected the vote on the treaty will be taken at 9 p. m.

The parties of the section of the Dail headed by Arthur Griffith in favor of the ratification estimated this afternoon that out of 122 votes the supporters of the treaty would obtain 63 or a majority of four.

Dublin, Jan. 7.—(By the A. P.)—The Dail Eireann appeared to be within a few hours of a vote on the Anglo-Irish treaty when it concluded its morning session today. Debate was to proceed during the afternoon lasting probably until 6 or 7 o'clock before a vote could be reached.

ANXIETY PREVAILS

Dublin, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Acute suspense and anxiety over the chances for peace prevailed in Ireland today as the result of Eamon DeValera's unexpected action yesterday in resigning as president of the Irish Republic.

Few among the Irish people are willing to doubt the sincerity of his action but the general regard for him does not prevent many expressions of regret at his course. In the view of supporters of the peace treaty his action has seriously imperilled the chances for peace.

It is the opinion of several members that a vote on the treaty will be taken before 7 o'clock tonight. Alarm is expressed in some quarters lest the waverers in the Dail will now be drawn to Mr. DeValera's side and the treaty defeated.

CONDEMN DEVALERA

London, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Comment on Eamon DeValera's action in submitting his resignation to the Dail Eireann in Dublin yesterday is confined to the liberal newspapers which as warm supporters of Irish autonomy and the peace treaty do not hesitate to condemn his new mode of attack on the treaty.

NORTH DAKOTA SECURITIES ARE ATTRACTING EASTERN CONCERNS

North Dakota securities now are attracting a great deal of attention from investors outside the state. Negotiations are under way through private and official sources, for the disposition of hall warrants, school warrants and city securities in markets which have heretofore been denied the state.

Negotiations for the sale of hall warrants have progressed to such an extent that Governor Nestos believes that within the next two weeks there may be consummated a deal which will enable the warrants to be sold at very near par. Three financial firms have investigated the hall warrant situation.

REMIT PART PAYMENTS.

Amnes, France, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Germany may be asked to send a representative to Amnes for consultation with the allied supreme council on the subject of German reparations, a leading delegate at the council meeting announced this afternoon.

Meanwhile it was learned today the experts dealing with the subject of German reparations have agreed on a plan for partial remission of cash payments by Germany for a period of years, involving the payment of five hundred million gold marks in cash and one billion gold marks in kind each year.

Amnes, France, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—The allied supreme council planned to begin consideration of the question of Germany's reparations today in an atmosphere somewhat cleared by yesterday's decision to get together with Russia and Germany in an international financial and economic conference.

The Belgian delegation has announced that it will insist on Belgium's priority to two billion five hundred million gold marks of the German reparations. This is regarded as an important obstacle to the British plan, which the French are disposed to accept in part.

Both the Belgians and the French are opposed to a moratorium for Germany, but the French are inclined to agree to a reduction in the cash payments provided the difference is made up by deliveries of reparations in kind. The British stick to their proposal to reduce the total payments this year from two billion gold marks to five hundred million marks on condition that materials be delivered to the value of two million gold marks.

AIRCRAFT IS CONSIDERED

Sub-committee Decides it is Impracticable to Limit Size of Aircraft in War

Washington, Jan. 7.—(By A. P.)—Poison gas, an instrument of warfare, was outlawed today by Great Britain, Japan, France, Italy and the United States who, through their representatives in the Washington conference, approved the American plan to prohibit the use of that weapon.

After the adoption of the anti-gas resolution the armament committee took up the report of its sub-committee on aircraft limitation but reached no conclusion on that matter. The aircraft discussion will be continued Monday.

On the question of aircraft the sub-committee reported that it was deemed impossible to limit the size or use or characteristics of aircraft other than lighter than air machines and that the question of restricting aircraft in war in its opinion should be left open for a future conference.

Washington, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Arthur J. Balfour and Secretary Hughes, it was said today by a British spokesman, probably will await a joint request from the Japanese and Chinese delegates to the armament conference to mediate the Shantung dispute before stepping into the breach caused yesterday when the conversations between the two groups came to an end after failing to agree on terms of payment for the Kiaochow Tamsanfu railway. The British view is that the situation is so delicate that it would be difficult for the British and American delegation heads to intervene at the instance of the Chinese without the Japanese joining in the request.

This, it was announced, the Japanese announced to the Chinese last night they were unwilling to do although they said they had no objection to the Chinese asking mediation.

HEATON RENEWS
SERIOUS CHARGE TO SAVE SELF

Fargo, Jan. 7.—Frank C. Heaton, former teller of the Scandinavian-American bank, charged with embezzlement, reiterated under cross-examination that he had assumed responsibility for the $78,000 shortage in the bank's fund after he had been promised immunity from prosecution and denied that he had dipped into the bank's cash for his own use. Under direct examination he declared that he had never taken a dollar that did not belong to him.

Under cross examination Heaton said that he had been personally asserted by O. E. Loftus, State Bank Examiner, that there would be no prosecution of himself and insisted that Loftus was cognizant of the understanding on the shortage and he knew Heaton was not responsible for it.

He insisted that all the statements made to the directors of the bank following the discovery of the shortage were with the understanding that he was assuming responsibility for the protection of others. All the directors he testified were aware of the situation with the exception of J. F. Holmes and H. L. Bolley. The case is expected to go to the jury early next week.

DR. J. H. WORST'S ANNUAL ADDRESS TO TRI-STATE GRAIN GROWERS TO BE HIS VALEDICTORY AS PRESIDENT

This Organization, Although Started 23 Years Ago, Has Never Had a Constitution

IS ALSO WITHOUT BY-LAWS

A Very Interesting Program Is Scheduled For Annual Meeting, Jan. 17, 18, 19, 20

Dr. J. H. Worst intends to make his annual address of the Tri State Grain Growers association his final address as president. Having headed the organization most of the 23 years of its existence, he now feels that the tasks he has carried should be taken over by other men. "I want to make it known," he said in speaking of his address of January 17th, "that this appearance and this address is my valedictory as president of the organization. I have moved from Fargo, and while still more than interested in the problem of the grain growers, other men are closer to the movement than I, and as far as I am concerned, this is my last year as president."

Dr. Worst plans in his final address as president to depart from the custom of the past in which he has presented a paper, and will speak extemporaneously devoting a part of his address to the history of the Tri State Grain Growers association and a part to the future work of the organization and a part to the future of agriculture.

Dr. Worst, who through his presidency of the State Agricultural College has been close to the organizations of the state, considers the Tri State Grain Growers association as one of the unusual organizations of the country. He was one of the three men who initiated the movement, one of the others being the then mayor of Fargo, in which town the annual meetings are held. The association had its first meeting there March 23, 1899. In the years since then, in which big movements have been initiated, reached even national vogue, and again passed out of existence, the Tri State Grain Growers flourished. Its growth has been in spite of the fact that it is probably the most loosely bound together organization in America. In the 23 years of its life, it has not had a constitution, is without by-laws, and does not have a membership list. It has no membership fee, and has never taken up a collection.

Many to Attend
In spite of all this lack of organization, between two and three thousand people attend the sessions, and the movement has gathered around it, sessions of a large number of the state associations in which farmer membership is predominant. So large is the attendance that Fargo interests have to make unusual arrangements to take care of all the people that wish to attend. They are taken care of, Dr. Worst, asserts, although an attendance of 2500 people is large for a town of ten times that population.

Membership in the Tri State Grain Growers association depends upon attendance, and when a man is within the convention audience he is recognized as a member and has all the rights and privileges of every other man at the meeting with the possible exception of the three or four men who have been elected to official positions at a previous meeting. In addition to Dr. Worst, the officials this year are G. W. Randlett, vice president and W. C. Palmer, secretary.

In the time between the beginning of the meeting, January 17, and the final session on January 20, arrangements have been made for short general sessions on all days, while time has been allotted to a half dozen or more other organizations, to hold their annual conventions.

The program will have three special topics, finance, production and distribution, while time is given on the program for representatives of allied interests from other states.

SPECIAL ACT IS NEED TO PAY OFF DEFICIT IN LICENSING DEPARTMENT

A special act of the legislature will be necessary to enable payment of left-over bills of the state licensing department under former Attorney General William Lemke, according to the report of Richard Dougherty and Company, certified accountants, who have completed an examination of the books of the licensing department.

The report shows that there are vouchers remaining unpaid in the state auditor's office for expense before the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1921, and these bills can only be paid through a special act of the legislature, it is stated.

The report shows a total of $5,508.01 of vouchers allowed but not paid as of December 16, 1921. The total expense of the licensing department, which fund was exhausted when the new administration took office, was $69,046.41 between Jan. 1, 1921 and Dec. 1, 1921.

One of the purposes of analyzing the disbursements of the office of the license inspector was to ascertain the present location of or what disposition had been made of automobiles and other evidence confiscated under the law. The auditor, according to his report, was unable to get information concerning the disposition of all of the seized automobiles.

HARDING'S TRIBUTE TO ROOSEVELT UPON ANNIVERSARY OF DEATH

President Harding today issued the following statement on the anniversary of Roosevelt's death. It follows:

"The anniversary of Colonel Roosevelt's death comes at a season which gives a peculiar significance, this year, to such a memorial service as the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial Association is holding. For it is difficult to conceive a series of developments which would more have rejoiced his great heart, than those now approaching fruition. I read the other day of a judgment from the French Academy, that the greatness of Roosevelt reached its apogee in the last phase of his life—in those trying years of the war, when the world in its agony so needed the steady, sustaining, inspiring counsels of such a man. Now mankind is emerging from its period of supreme trial and looks out upon a prospect of permanent peace, security, and progress without precedent in human annals. Always the ardent advocate of peace with honor and progress, such a prospect would have seemed to him the consummation of the noblest in human hopes and aspirations. In honoring him, therefore, and in paying the tribute in which we all will join, you will be solemnly celebrating what I sincerely believe is one of the most notable advances that have marked the history of the race."

FORMER CITY RESIDENT DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN IOWA

Englebert Elfstrom, 42, former resident of Bismarck, and well known throughout the Slope country, was killed in an automobile accident at Mason City, Iowa. A full account of the accident is given in the Mason City Globe-Gazette of Saturday, Dec. 31, the day of the accident.

Mr. Elfstrom lived in Bismarck and his children attended school here. He had owned a store in a Slope town. He left here about two years ago. Mr. Elfstrom was 42 years old and was manager of the J. B. Schermerhorn farms near Mason City, Albert A. Mahon, of Minneapolis, private secretary to Mr. Schermerhorn was hurt when the Buick car driven by Mr. Elfstrom was struck by No. 25 Northwestern passenger at the intersection of Twenty-second street South and Federal avenue.

The Minneapolis man was thrown to the embankment on one side of the auto and Elfstrom on the other. Elfstrom, who was driving south toward the farm, saw the train coming toward the city and several yards from the track put on his brakes and endeavored to stop the speeding car. The auto swerved around completely and crashed with its rear end directly into the oncoming engine.

The Buick car was completely wrecked and was literally torn to bits. It was thrown clear of the tracks against a telephone pole and the two occupants were hurled from the wreckage. When other autoists arrived Elfstrom breathed once or twice but he expired before he could be taken to a hospital.

Mahon was rushed to a hospital and given immediate medical assistance. He suffered a deep scalp wound but otherwise was unhurt.

Last Saturday was to have been the last day of Mr. Elfstrom's service for the Schermerhorn farms. With his family he was to have gone to Wisconsin to take up a farm there next week. Mr. Mahon, private secretary for the president of the Schermerhorn farms, was in Mason City to aid Mr. Elfstrom in getting squared away for leaving.

"BUILD HOMES" IS MOTTO USED BY LUMBERMEN

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 6.—"Build homes" will be the keynote of the 32nd annual convention of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association, which will take place here January 17, 18 and 19. The association, the biggest retail lumber organization in the United States, has a membership of 2,800 yards in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and Montana. More than 2,500 delegates are expected to be here for the annual meeting.

Around the two-word motto, the lumbermen will form a campaign to build homes in line with the pocket-books of the builders. According to Harrison Hattson, secretary of the association, practical, direct ideas on the subject will be assimilated by the visiting delegates, who will further the campaign in their respective communities.

In conjunction with the meeting, an elaborate building exhibit will be displayed. Approximately 18,000 feet of space is being given over to exhibitors at a local hotel.

Straight forward talks on lumber merchandising by men who know the selling game will be on the program for speeches, according to Mr. Hattson.

Explanation of farm credit matters will be a feature of the sessions. The entire subject of financial aid to farmers will be discussed fully, together with the operation of other plans to put more money into the territory of the Northwest Lumbermen, Mr. Hattson added.

Affiliated with the Northwestern Lumbermen's association are the following: North Dakota Retail Lumbermen's association; South Dakota Retail Lumbermen's association; Southwestern Iowa Retail Lumbermen's association; Southeastern Iowa Retail Lumbermen's association; Central and Northeastern Iowa Lumbermen's association; Northwestern Iowa Retail Lumbermen's association and the Eastern Iowa Retail Lumbermen's association.

ZERO WEATHER NO HINDRANCE TO BOYS' FLIGHT

Two boys escaped from the state training school early today, according to word received here.

One of them was 17 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighed 127 pounds; the other 16 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighed 120 pounds.

Both possessed sheepskin coats to help them in their flight in zero weather, but it is doubted if they had much money.

How To Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

Your nerve power depends on plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings. Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth nor upset the stomach; it is an entirely different thing from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalizes wornout, exhausted nerves and gives you new strength and energy. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. Beware of substitutes. Always insist upon having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists in tablets only—never in liquid form.

HERMAN KURTZTISCH,
Milwaukee, Wis.

"When it comes to eating, working and sleeping I'm like a different man from what I was a short time ago," said Herman Kurtztisch, 406 1-2 Norris Place, Milwaukee, with the Northwestern Life Insurance Co. in relating his experience with Tanlac.

"My whole system was about to give way as a result of two years' constant suffering from stomach trouble and I was so run down and worn out I was hardly able to work. I actually dreaded to eat, as after every meal I suffered so terribly from heartburn, and I was so nervous I got little rest day or night.

"If it hadn't been for Tanlac I'm firmly convinced I would have had to resign my place. It came to my aid in the nick of time and I am strong for it. Tanlac was worth at least fifty times what it cost me."

U.S. FARMER IN 1920 AVERAGED A $465 INCOME

President Hill Says Farmer Is Drifting Toward the Peasant Class

Huron, S. D., Jan. 7.—"Within a comparatively few years we are going to determine whether the agricultural products of this country are to be supplied by the independent farmer or by a peasant class," declared W. S. Hill, president of the South Dakota Farm Bureau Federation, addressing that body in convention here. "The average income of the farmers of America for the year 1920 was $465," Mr. Hill said. "This amount," he continued, "was his pay for his time and the management of the farm. More than this, the purchasing power of his income, when used to buy the necessities of life, was reduced to $218. From this you must realize the drift of the farmer toward the peasant class."

President Hill reviewed the business conditions of the country since the close of the world war, and dwelt especially upon agriculture. He outlined the purpose of the farm bureau federation and the necessity for its already large membership to be further increased.

"We are living in an age of organization," he said. "The farm bureau is an effort to organize the farmer and to get him to pay more attention to his business. It is not a political party—it is a business organization. It does not appeal to the higher things in life but is concerned with the economic side of farming."

The business of the farm must be made profitable if the boys and girls of the farm are to remain tillers of the soil, Mr. Hill declared. "If it is not a profitable business," he asked, "have we a right to urge them to remain on the farm? We have a right to urge them to leave the farm if it is not profitable. We must keep our best and brightest girls and boys in that line of work."

"The farmer is a producer," President Hill continued, "and as a producer he needs a market. At present there is too great a spread between what the farmer gets for his products and the cost of these products to the consumer. In the past the farmer has given too much attention to production and too little attention to the marketing of his products. Cooperation is a big question and it is the most important thing to which the farm bureau can give attention."

"The marketing problem naturally divides itself into commodities," he said. We in South Dakota are particularly interested in grain, livestock, wool and vegetables. Our farm bureau is cooperating with the organizations formed to market these products. It is adding the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., which is the organization endorsed by the American Farm Bureau Federation for the marketing of grain. It is also helping in the cooperative livestock marketing plan which is being established at the present time and which gives promise of being a material help to our livestock marketing."

Mr. Hill appealed to the farm women of the state to take a more active interest in the workings of their state farm bureau. "Under present regulations," he said, "the wife of a member automatically becomes herself a member."

He praised the efforts of the Agricultural Bloc at Washington, which he characterized as the result of efforts put forth by the Washington office of the Farm Bureau Federation.

"Through this bloc much legislation has been done," Mr. Hill said. "For the first time since the foundation of our country the organized farmer has been heard from at Washington. Other interests have been heard from continuously but agriculture has been exploited to the advantage of other lines of industry. Through the operation of the Agricultural Bloc, the bill regulating the packers has become a law after fourteen years of opposition from the packers themselves."

WONG'S NECK REAL TOUGH

Sentenced To Death But Knife Failed To Sever Chinaman's Head

Shanghai, Kansu Province, Jan. 7. (By Mail).—One Wong Ah-nui, not so long ago a captured bandit under sentence of death in this little Chinese community, walks the streets of the city a free man today, and his is a figure that commands a certain measure of awe and respect due to odd circumstance.
With six companions, he was captured while engaged in a lawless enterprise and in accordance with the swift justice of the Chinese he and the other six were promptly convicted and let out to be executed. The heads of the six were quickly chopped off by a mischance when the knife descended upon Wong's neck it did not sever the head but merely inflicted a gaping wound. This was taken as a sign that some special spirit was acting as Wong's guardian and neither the executioner nor any other dared again swing the knife.
Wong was taken to the yamen of the magistrate who also was impressed, so much so that the official not only granted the culprit a full pardon but he also gave Wong a letter of introduction to those in charge of the mission hospital. The Christian doctor in charge there restored Wong to well-being and so he goes about today a free man and one to be respected.

LINEN SCARCE IN GERMANY

Berlin, Jan. 7.—Some of the most valuable collections of paintings, renowned libraries, statues and antiques, as well as jewel heirlooms and family treasures, have been sold and taken from the country in the rush of foreigners to buy German goods while the exchange value of the mark was low.
The immediate effect of this rush to buy on the German population and resident foreigners has been a shortage of many necessities, and rapidly rising prices for goods still available. The fact that importations virtually have ceased, owing to the low foreign purchasing power of the mark, has added to the difficulties.
German householders complain they are unable to replenish their linen supplies, and even some of the smaller hotels are short of sheets and pillow cases. It is not uncommon for a traveler who has run the gauntlet of the Rhineland and border town hotels to carry his own pillow and sheets.
Food supplies in many districts are reported exhausted and shipments from central German towns have been ordered. In Cologne, Düsseldorf, Münster, Würzburg, Hannover, Altona and Dresden districts shops are reported generally empty.
Measures have been taken in a few towns to prevent the sale of goods to foreigners, except at very high prices, but the regulations for the most part are unenforceable.

FARM MEETING TO BE HELD

Washington, Jan. 7.—The feeling that something "worth while" will come out of the National Conference on Agriculture which is to meet here January 23, has been voiced by practically all of the more than 600 delegates invited to sit in the gathering, Secretary Wallace said today.
President Harding no doubt will open the conference Mr. Wallace said. The delegates will meet, he continued, without any previous arranged program.

Neesse sentenced the convicted man to three years and six months in the state penitentiary at Bismarck. McCarty then, through his attorneys, H. E. Haney of Belfield and R. F. Gallagher of Beach, served notice of appeal to the supreme court and a stay of execution of sentence was granted.

WATERWAY GETS APPROVAL FROM JOINT PROBERS

International American-Canadian Commission Approves of Plan For Great Lakes Use

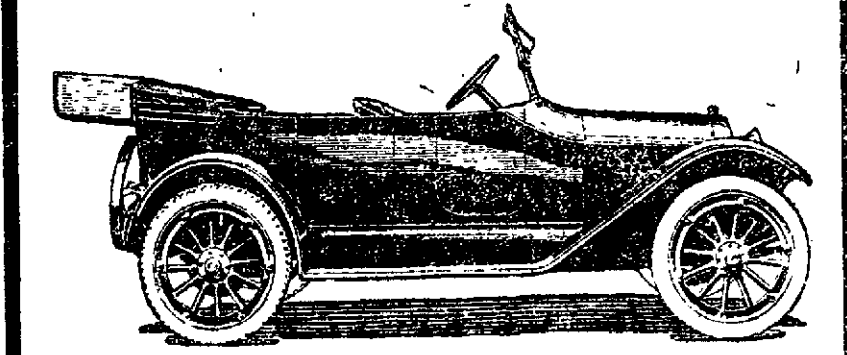

Washington, Jan. 7.—Approval is given the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway by the international joint commission in a report which has been transmitted to the American state department and the Canadian government.
The report will be transmitted within a few days by the state department to Congress and it was said today that inasmuch as consideration of the project was undertaken by the commission at the direction of Congress the report will not be made public until submitted to Congress.
The commission, it was learned today, however, has unanimously approved the project which contemplates construction of a deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the ocean through the St. Lawrence of sufficient depth to enable sea-going vessels to enter the Great Lakes.
The commission also was understood to recommend beginning of construction in the near future or as soon as possible.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts
"Now tell me what the trouble is about," said the Fairy Queen to the two battered looking lites.
Nancy, Nick and Busskins had taken seats in the front row of the courtroom and they could hear and see everything that went on.
"They have been fighting again, your highness," said the policeman, coming forward and making a stiff bow. "It's the old trouble again. They've been jealous of each other these hundred years and they are getting worse instead of better."
The Fairy Queen turned her kind eyes reprovingly on the offenders.
"Tut, tut, tut," she said. "This will never do! Aren't you both ashamed of yourselves! I keep this part of my kingdom, the Land-of-Up-In-The-Air, just to make you happy and here you are acting like sillies."
"Dear only knows, when you kites get away from the strings in things that tie you to earth, you make a bee-line for the sky as quick as you know how. Why do you come if you can't be happy?" she asked severely.
"I would be happy if it wasn't for this fellow," said the first kite, "he knows I am the most important, but he won't say so."
"Why I've been written about in all the history books down on the earth and the children study about me."
"I'm the kite that carried the cord that pulled the rope that drew the cable that started the bridge."
"Oh, goodness!" cried the second kite, "we've heard a million times!"
Then he turned to the Fairy Queen. "As for me, your majesty, I am Benjamin Franklin's silk kite," he said. "I went up into the clouds during a storm and discovered electricity!"
And he held himself so straight that he nearly fell over backwards.
The twins wondered how the Fairy Queen was going to decide the question. But Busskins said to wait.

"OVER THE HILL" COMING.
A theatrical event of much more than ordinary interest and importance is the forthcoming engagement of the William Fox production, "Over the Hill," which will open at Rialto, Monday.
"Over the Hill" is one of the most remarkable attractions ever shown on Broadway, where it has been playing for over a year.
The theme of "Over the Hill" is mother love, and the story is based upon the work of Will Carleton, the poet. The action is drawn from an incident which occurred during the boyhood of Carleton, who lived on a farm and knew intimately the characters that have been made immortal upon the screen. The incident of Carleton's early life impressed him so vividly that he never forgot it, and when he had grown to man's estate he made it the theme of two of his best loved poems.

The poems in question eventually found their way to the motion picture screen of today, because of the appreciation and foresight of Mr. Fox. Like many another great theatrical production, it appeared to just happen along—until the people woke up to its greatness. "Over the Hill" owes its existence to a simple, homely incident in the early life of a farmer boy. For more than a year it provided wholesome and substantial entertainment for the New York playgoer.
To a young writer was entrusted the task of gathering up the threads of Carleton's famous story and weaving them into a substantial fabric for the screen. The success Paul H. Sloane scored in this assignment is apparent from the first moment of the story's unfolding.
Harry Billardie, a director of note, has contributed one of the most artistic and efficient examples of stage direction ever beheld upon the screen.
The central figure in the story, that of a little, self-sacrificing mother, has been made one of the most delightful character studies of the present day by Mary Carr, whose finished interpretation of the leading part is a constant joy.
The picture, in its many sidedness, has an irresistible appeal for every member of the family. It has heart interest, swiftness and action, delightful humor, and a sweet and wholesome story so simply told and so human that it already has taken its place among the classics of the film.
WM. S. HART IN NEW PICTURE AT THE ELTINGE
"Three Word Brand" showing at the Eltinge tonight is an unusually clever western photoplay. The cast is pleasing and the story very good.
This is one of the typical William S. Hart pictures, of which the average film fan never tires. Mr. Hart plays three roles in the story, the scenes of which are laid in Utah. He is, first, Ben Trego, the father of motherless twin boys, who blows himself up with dynamite rather than fall into the hands of savages, after he had sent his two boys away and covered up their tracks. The lads are rescued and one becomes the governor of the state, the other a rancher. Neither knows of the existence of the other and in the development of the plot there are the usual thrills, shooting and the like, the climax being exceptionally dramatic. Of course, there is a beautiful girl whom the cowman loves and wins. Jane Novak is the girl and the support generally is excellent. The photography is artistically done and there is nothing wanting to make this offering one of universal appeal.
An Aesop Fable, "The Dog and the Bone" is also being shown.

HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

Jolson-Inseth Nuptial Event of Wednesday

Of interest to their many friends in Bismarck is the news of the wedding of Miss Grace M. Jolson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jolson of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Roy Inseth of this city, at the home of the bride on Wednesday, January 4. Rev. George Edwin Parise of the First Presbyterian church officiated.

Miss Helen Jolson, sister of the bride, played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the couple took their places. Miss Dale Dynn of Yankton, a sorority sister of the bride, and Harold Swift, an old friend of the bridegroom, were the attendants.

The bride's gown was of white georgette made over satin, and was rich with soft ribbon trimmings. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Her only jewels were a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

A two course luncheon was served to the bridal party following the ceremony.

Mrs. Inseth graduated from the Washington high school at Sioux Falls in 1918. She is also a graduate of the normal training course in the University of South Dakota. She is a charter member of the Psi Chapter of the Alpha Phi. She has been teaching in the Richholt school here for the past year and has many friends in Bismarck.

Mr. Inseth was a volunteer in the navy during the world war, serving on a destroyer in foreign waters for two years. He is connected with the Lahr Motor Sales company here.

Mr. and Mrs. Inseth will make their home in Bismarck after February 1.

FIVE BOBBING STYLES FOR TINY TOTS' TRESSES

Good morning, little folks, have you had your hair bobbed? And what style did you pick? In spite of the grown-ups' rush for the shortened tresses, many barbers still flash a sign that reads "We cater especially to children."

And a lot of children have crawled into the barber's chair and let the scissors send flowing locks flying. There are five main styles for tiny tots to pick from:

Below (left), is a fortunate tiny sister who has natural curly hair. So she had it bobbed and let it take its own course.

If you prefer a half-ribbon, the miss below (right), shows how it will look with bobbed hair partially curled.

And in the center is a full-faced tot who has a real short bob with the locks curled and turned under.

THE VEIL ENHANCES MILADY'S BEAUTY

By Marian Hale

New York, Jan. 7.—Time was when veils were simply veils—plain, meshed things, with a very plainly defined duty, which they went about rather severely.

But the modern version of the veil: A thing of romance, charm, mystery! A bit of lace skillfully woven, skillfully draped to enhance charm and subtly suggest beauties half concealed!

The Maria Guy veil, above, a gossamer thing, little more than a web with a delicate tracery of figures in the border, is gathered about the crown and falls gracefully irregular.

The Ponch veil takes to a wide square mesh, which enlarges the eyes smiling below the brim of a fascinating hat. Flat over the crown, long at the sides and rippling gracefully at the back the lovely, heavy silken pattern woven into the squares is given play.

A Curious Mother

(Letters to Lovers)
By Winona Wilcox

Seldom do any two persons understand why they love each other. Then it is hardly to be expected that a third person should understand.

A mother, nevertheless, sometimes assumes that she knows precisely what will make her daughter happiest; and sometimes she meddles with the courtship and marriage of a daughter in a most irritating manner.

A complaint from an engaged girl runs thus: "My mother reads the letters I receive from the man I am to marry. I have remonstrated with her, I have wept."

"Mother says it is her duty to know just what kind of a man I have picked out for a husband, and she is sure she can learn from what he writes to me."

"Mother makes me perfectly indignant when she tries to discuss my love letters with me and when she advises me what to reply. But I am helpless."

Once more we have a case in which the mother is not content to have lived through her own love story. She is greedy—she wants to live her daughter's, also.

This is not an uncommon kind of inquisitiveness in mothers who have raised their families and who haven't enough left-over interests in life to keep their minds properly employed. It ruins the young woman who writes the above is being tested by fate for a weak spot in her own character. In this ordeal, she seems to have forgotten that the young man who indites the tender epistles has some rights of his own.

He is not writing his love letters to the mother. He supposes that his beloved keeps them sacred. He doesn't dream that the mother intrudes where she does not belong. And certainly his rights ought to be respected by the girl.

If she keeps this point in mind, she may be able to cope successfully with the curious mother who seems a bit dense as to where duty begins and ends.

This incident has a greater significance than is obvious upon a first reading. In some readers, the girl's letter may excite mirth. It has, however, a genuine psychological significance.

Morbid curiosity about the love affairs of other people is one of the indirect satisfactions of some persons whose own love has been misdirected, starved or thwarted. A great deal of silly gossip about the engagements hinges on this fact. It may be the scientific explanation of the mother's curiosity. But explanations do not always justify conduct.

SCHOOL DEFECTS TO BE REMEDIED AFTER A PROBE

J. W. Riley, state school inspector, in company with County Superintendent Hablutzel, visited the open country two-room consolidated school in Doyre Dist. No. 5, about 12 miles southeast of Amidon recently. Mr. Riley found the building heated with a furnace which permitted the foul air in the room being returned to the furnace where it was reheated and brought up for further use.

This arrangement was condemned as this style of furnace does not meet the requirements for State Aid.

Upon further investigation it was found that several of the children were seriously defective in articulation and enunciation. Mr. Riley suggested the services of a school nurse.

Yesterday, Mr. A. O. Nasset, principal of the school was called at the State Department of Education to inform Miss Nielson that the heating and ventilating plant of his school had been completely overhauled as suggested by the inspector and that the improvement had a marked effect upon his pupils. Furthermore Mr. Nasset had arranged for a clinic. Dr. Geo. A. Sarchet of New England, together with two nurses, had operated on 24 of the 30 pupils in the school for the removal of tonsils and adenoids. Everybody has fully recovered and the school and community are correspondingly happy. That's what we call very much worth-while work.

Perfumes Selling High In Russia

Moscow, Jan. 7.—Perfumes at any price is the demand of the women folk of Russia's speculators. French perfumes that sold here a few weeks ago, when the stores first opened, at 600,000 to 700,000 rubles ($8 to $7) for a tiny flask, are now quoted retail at twice that figure, and the price is soaring as the speculators in stolen sugar, in furs, in boots and shoes, make more money.

There is a perfume market, just as

A WORTHY EFFORT

Yesterday marked the anniversary of Roosevelt's death. President Harding in an eloquent tribute emphasized the significance of the day. The Roosevelt Memorial Association has done much to perpetuate the memory of the great American. Its latest work is a study of Roosevelt's career in North Dakota and his activities upon the plains of the Bad Lands. The book is from the pen of Hermann Hagedorn and is issued by Houghton Mifflin Company and is a fine contribution to the literature on Roosevelt. Other publications from the same society are, "Roosevelt in the Kansas City Star" and the "Americanism of Theodore Roosevelt." In this connection too, worthy of mention is the eloquent lecture of Charles W. Farnham on Roosevelt delivered in Bismarck under the Auspices of the Town Criers. This lecture has found wide distribution in pamphlet form through the memorial association.

Now comes the announcement that plans have been completed for the restoration of Theodore Roosevelt's birthplace at 28 East Twentieth street, New York City, under the auspices of the Women's Roosevelt Memorial Association.

When this historic spot has been restored and the adjoining property used to give a better setting to the birthplace, the site will provide forever a forum of Americanism. One of Roosevelt's most vigorous admonitions was "There must be no sagging back in the fight for Americanism." No more fitting memorial than this home could be provided as an answer to that challenge.

The four floors of Roosevelt's birthplace will contain some of the best sources for students engaged in the study of this versatile character. The haircloth chairs, the children's porch where Roosevelt sought to overcome the infirmities of youth, the room he was born in, a library of the books he wrote and the books he loved, together with an auditorium to be devoted to lectures and plays dealing with history, civics and other subjects form some of the interesting features of the memorial undertaken by the admirers of Theodore Roosevelt.

It is fitting too that North Dakota has taken steps to fence off and put in proper shape Roosevelt's cabin on the state capitol grounds. The grass about it should be kept green and a proper background provided for this interesting remembrance of Roosevelt's residence in North Dakota. The Daughters of the American Revolution have undertaken a fine work in preserving this historic landmark.

THE "FARM BLOC"

Senator McCumber's ascendancy to the chairmanship of the finance committee has caused some of the newspapers close to the financial centers to wax nervous over what they term the control of legislation by the "agricultural bloc."

The New York Times under the caption "Leadershipless Senate" calls the rule "foolish" by which Mr. McCumber heads the most influential committee. This journal argues that in times of adversity agricultural sections run after false gods and hail nostrums rather than adhering to strict economic laws. The Times admits that Senator Penrose could not control the agricultural bloc but that he could resist it and "did a great deal to avert the consequences of its activity."

This view of altered alignment in the United States senate is as sectional as the opinion of the feared agricultural bloc when Penrose held undisputed sway, although he it said the late Pennsylvania senator recognized the predicament of the farmers and worked shoulder to shoulder with McCumber and other leaders of the so-called bloc to ease conditions.

But the view of the New York Times is not the view of financial New York. That journal is Democratic in leanings and naturally always a sharp critic of those who would not swallow Woodrow Wilson's fourteen points and his league of nations. In a recent survey of economic conditions by the National City Bank of New York there is this very frank statement from the heart of Wall Street as it were:

"The principal factor in the depression is within the control of the American people. It exists in the unbalanced relationship between the prices of farm and other primary products on the one hand and the prices of manufactured goods, transportation service and various other products and services on the other hand. The final estimates of the Department of Agriculture upon the 1921 crops give them a market value to the farmers $8,000,000,000 below the value of the crop of 1919 and $3,400,000,000 below the value of the crop of 1920. These are figures of great significance. The farmers have produced nearly as much in quantity, but it has been valued in the exchanges at less than one-third the figures of 1919. As other products and services have not declined in like degree, the farmers must buy much less, and all the industries are suffering in consequence.

"It is useless to expect a return to normal conditions while this disparity of compensation between great bodies of producers exists. It is unfair and it establishes an effective blockade against a revival of business. It is time that the business community took cognizance of the situation, and set itself to the task of correcting it. The argument that stock on hand was purchased at higher prices has lost whatever force it ever had."

If the operation of the agricultural bloc under Senator McCumber can relieve acute agricultural depression the first logical step toward normalcy will have been taken. It is elementary as the City National Bank of New York points out that better times can only come after better agricultural conditions are restored.

Under the leadership of McCumber the "farm bloc" can evolve a practical and constructive program for the good of the country as a whole. For generations the east has dominated the senate committee which Senator McCumber is to head. A change in viewpoint may hasten a return to normalcy which was one of the slogans of the last campaign.

As The Tribune sees it the "farm bloc" is merely asking a square deal for agriculture. As long as that combination avoids the advocacy of strictly class legislation, eastern papers should not see red whenever the "farm bloc" is alluded to.

PAYING

John H. Clarke, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, urges cancellation of the loans Uncle Sam made to the allies. Unpaid interest has increased this debt to about $10,000,000,000.

Cancellation is not as easy as it sounds. It isn't merely a matter of sentiment.

Money loaned to the allies was raised largely by selling Liberty bonds. When those bonds mature, Uncle Sam has to pay the buyers full face value, retiring the bonds.

That would mean $10,000,000,000 additional taxation for Americans, to retire our bonds, if the allied war debts were canceled.

GERMAN

A movie film that costs $200,000 to $300,000 to produce in our country can be turned out for $10,000 to $12,000 in Germany. A Senate committee hears that from Paul M. Turner, of New York, during tariff hearings.

The movie people are on the wrong track. Their logical protection against foreign competition is to make better pictures.

If comparative production figures are as far out of line as Turner claims, raising the tariff on imported films from 30 per cent to the suggested 60 per cent, would not make any great deal of difference.

Movie competition is a matter of quality of product, with production costs and prices secondary.

SOLD

Nearly a third of our total exports in the last three years was foodstuffs. Eighty-three per cent of these went to Europe.

American manufacturers are turning to Latin America and the Orient, for new markets.

The farmer can't do that. His market hasn't moved. It's still in Europe.

When Europe recovers financially, our farmers will be first to benefit.

CONTROL MOVES TO THE WEST

The succession of Senator McCumber of North Dakota to the place of the late Senator Penrose at the head of the senate finance committee, which has charge of tariff and tax legislation, is indeed the notable event that it was made out to be by a correspondent in The Herald last night.

In the first place, it is a sign of the coming transfer of the high places in the senate from the East to the West, unless the East throws overboard the seniority rule which, long the friend of the East, is now about to become a problem to it. The elder statesmen of the East who hold these places are old and in some cases sick, and when they go Western senators will take their places, as McCumber is about to succeed Penrose.

It ought to make a difference. Certainly the tariff viewpoint of a senator from North Dakota ought to be different from that of a senator from Pennsylvania, and while Senator McCumber has not disturbed anybody by obtrusive radicalism, still there is bound to be a difference between a Penrose and a McCumber.

Whether it will make any particular difference in the forthcoming tariff bill remains to be seen. Senator McCumber is a pretty strong protectionist, but perhaps he is more susceptible to the knowledge that the day of Dingley, McKinley and Aldrich tariff laws has passed away. — Duluth Herald.

YEP, THIS IS THE WEEK OF THE BIG THAW

BETTER TIMES ARE COMING! That's the Unanimous Verdict of Business Leaders, Answering Query: "What of 1922?"

BY JOHN WANAMAKER

Every good American must look into the new year hopefully. There are still the conditions of high wages, high costs, high rents, high taxes, to be met and dealt with.

There will have to be an adjustment of these things before business can get on an even keel. Every business man wishes, of course, that it could all be settled at once by some single sweeping action, adjusting wages, adjusting costs, adjusting prices, adjusting rents, adjusting taxes, all coming down together.

But it will have to be worked out gradually by the good sense and reasonableness of both employees and employers, and by a good, common sense reduction of the federal expenditures and federal taxes that have become so burdensome. The nation is full of life and health. It has the right spirit and is not particularly muddled; it has great opportunities, greater than the opportunities of any other nation in the world. We made progress in 1921. We are better off than we were in 1920. Nineteen twenty-two will continue to be a year of settling down and getting nearer to an even keel.

BY OTTO H. KAHN
International Financier

The most pressing problems which the world faces today are not political, not even primarily social in character, but relate to matters of practical economics, questions of trade, employment, production, consumption, distribution, transportation and finance.

The most essential thing for everybody to recognize is that in the last analysis, we are all in the same boat and sink or swim together. The most helpful thing to set prosperity going again for 1922 and thereafter is to carry that recognition into practice instead of blaming our adversity on the other fellow and trying to get even with him.

Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment

That holds good among individuals, among different sections and callings, and to a large extent, even among nations. There is no adequate economic reason, notwithstanding the huge destruction of the late war, why the world, and particularly this favored country, should not now resume the road of prosperity; but in order to do so we must pull together and set free the forces of energy and enterprise instead of cramping, shackling and hampering them, and we must let ourselves be guided by the tested lessons of economic truths instead of giving heed to plausible fallacies. (From recent statement by Mr. Kahn.)

Vice President, Guaranty Trust Company of New York

The year that has just closed has marked, in this country a turning point in the drastic reaction against inflation. The financial and commercial interrelations of nations are so comprehensive and intricate that no single country, however favorable its domestic conditions can, in a world-wide readjustment exercise fully all its own powers of economic recuperation without experiencing the ill effects of economic de-arrangement elsewhere.

Nevertheless, American business activity in general has been for some months gradually emerging from the slough of depression. Moreover, for the most part current industrial production does not yet fully reflect the substantial improvement that has been effected in the fundamental business factors, such as the decline in interest rates, the liquidation of bank credit, the reductions in accumulated stocks of commodities and the comparative stabilization of prices at reduced levels.

Nor has domestic business yet had time fully to reflect the economic recuperation of the year in various of the former belligerent countries and the favorable political developments in the international field.

The successful results of the Washington conference, already assured, the progress toward a solution of the Irish question, the evidence of reviving sanity in Russia, and the probability that workable agreements will be made respecting the German reparation payments and the many commercial restrictions which still hinder European commerce, cannot fail to react favorably upon world industry and trade.

The distinct improvement since the middle of last year in the fundamental elements of the business situation as a whole warrants a much more hopeful outlook for the present year than was justifiable at the beginning of 1921.

Due recognition, however, should be given to the fact that liquidation in many lines is not complete. Moreover, individual commodity prices are still in many cases conspicuously lacking in durable adjustment, one to another.

Therefore, whether the readjustments yet to be effected will involve further declines in the prices of finished goods or advances in the prices of raw commodities, in any case elements of uncertainty remain which must be expected to retard the progress of revival.

We are going to have better times, but we are not going to have a boom.

have a boom
The constitution of the United States has had a severe strain but it has stood the test.

Just be cheerful and patient and reasonable. Trade has been very sick but the marvelous recuperative powers of Americans will pull the patient through. Better let convalescence take its orderly course. Pills and tonics will do more harm than good. Give business all the exercise it will stand but don't overdo it. Trust to the soundness of our constitution and our economic strength.

BY HARVEY S. FIRESTONE
President, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company

Our prosperity for the ensuing year depends upon the recognition by everyone that we still have many hardships to face and sacrifices to make from a business standpoint.

Those who have refused to accept the changed order of things and held to the principles and policies of boom times in the hope that the mere passage of time and the efforts of others would carry them along will be disappointed in 1922.

The business men who will make profits this year are those who have accepted their losses, reduced manufacturing and distributing costs, and passed a fair share of that reduction on to the ultimate consumer.

One of the greatest hindrances to the return of better conditions during the past year has been the failure of many to give real service and have a true appreciation of values. There is still too much waste and unearned profits in the cost of distribution.

The producer of food is not receiving enough and the consumer is paying too much.

Somewhere along the line of distribution there is a lack of economy or refusal to reduce costs and profits. Our present situation will not improve any faster until everyone recognizes these simple economic truths. Production and service are the only sources of prosperity. Manipulation and speculation never cured any country's economic ills.

It is always safe to predict better times because better times invariably follow periods of depression. As I view it, there is no question about whether or not business is going to improve.

It certainly is, and it is merely a question of when the improvement will be great enough to spell prosperity.

I believe that we have come to the turn in the road and while I do not expect good times to return as rapidly as bad times came on, still I think we can look forward with faith and confidence.

Further liquidation in some lines is probably essential, but in others business is better than in years.

THIS HOME REALLY IS DISTINCTIVE

Charming Touch Is Added by Thatched Roof Effect.

EIGHT LARGE BRIGHT ROOMS

Combination of the Old and the New Makes Delightful Picture—Floor Plan Is Unusually Well Proportioned.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1227 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

"When I build a home, it will be something different from anything you see around here." How often have you heard this expression from some ambitious head of a family. In short, he wants to be distinctive and in no more effective manner can he express his desire than through the medium of a home. It is important, however, in making plans for a home of this unique type that the prospective owner does not lose sight of the bigger things, comfort, balance and beauty of design. Frills also add to the cost, whereas wisely selected trim and other decorations will not cost much, and will add infinitely to the hospitality and charm of the building.

Back in the early days thatched roofs were used on log cabins by the sturdy pioneers who blazed their way through virgin forest and wilderness. This type of roof has been used for centuries in Europe, in fact, it is still used over there on peasant homes, and naturally the early settlers followed the lead of their fathers. But, because of the abundance of lumber and other materials in this country, the thatched roof of straw and mud did not last, and was soon replaced by the more durable type of roof. There was something inviting and informal about the old thatched roof that could not be replaced. In an effort to approximate this type with modern materials manufacturers have evolved a thatched roof made of durable shingles. These shingles are formed to give this effect, and the result is quite effective if the charming picture here is any criterion.

Here we have a charming combination of the old and new. This home represents a most delightful picture, and one that will make strong appeal to any person who loves a home and its attributes. It sets snugly and closely to the ground, built of frame, stained to a picturesque brown in contrast to door and window frames of white.

It is a type that lends itself readily and beautifully to landscape adornment.

At one corner is the entrance with a small thatched roof hood opening into a small vestibule which in turn leads into a reception hall. Along this hall is a wall seat for people who have to wait a few minutes. Double French doors at the right open the way majestically into the beautiful spacious living room which has a large open fireplace in keeping with the general air of hospitality which permeates the whole dwelling. This fireplace is located in one corner of the room. On two sides of the living room are sets of four casement windows affording plenty of light to this big room.

Diagonally opposite the doors to the living room are a similar pair of French doors opening into the dining room, which also has excellent lighting facilities and is exceedingly comfortable. At the far end it opens by swinging doors into a breakfast room or sun parlor, conveniently close to the kitchen and dining room. Light meals can be served in the room while the affairs of state can be taken care of in the larger room. To reach the kitchen from either dining room or breakfast room, it is necessary to pass through the pantry.

In the kitchen is found complete equipment designed to make the work as light and pleasant as possible for the housewife or help, if she can afford that luxury. The room itself is quite small, but sufficient for the needs of the household. It has range, sink and built-in cupboards.

Coming back to the reception hall again, we find it opens into a small hall beyond the doors into the living room. This hall leads to stairs to the floor above, and also to another hall opening into the kitchen, lavatory and bedroom for the maid or cook. There is a linen closet as well as an extra clothes closet.

Upstairs are three large bedrooms, the master bedroom 16 by 17 feet 6 inches, the other two 17 by 13 and 17 by 14 feet. The bathroom and trunk room constitute the rest of this floor. Each bedroom has ample closet space and plenty of windows of the four-swinging casement type. The linen chute and broom closet are located in the hall.

This house is 38 by 36 feet 6 inches.

UNITED TO FIGHT BOLSHEVISM

Fascist of Italy Recall Lictors of Great Days of Ancient Rome.

During the great days of the Roman state the consuls and certain other high magistrates were attended in public by persons called lictors. Their duty it was to clear the way, to enforce respect for the authority of the magistrates and to arrest and punish criminals. As the emblem of their office the lictors bore the fasces—a bundle of rods bound together round the handle of an ax, the blade of which projected at one end. To the people of Rome the lictors with their fasces were the visible symbols of order and of respect for authority. There has lately come into existence in Italy an organization known as the Fascist, which recalls the officials of old Roman days. The members of it wear in their buttonholes the insignia of the fasces and are sworn to combat everywhere the anarchists and bolsheviks who are trying to break down the existing government.

American Delicacy.

An American naval officer, who has seen service on the Asiatic station, tells this one:

An American, who was visiting China, was treated with great courtesy by a certain viceroy. When the American was about to leave he wished to convey to the official some token of his appreciation. So he sent the dignitary an uncommonly fine bull pup he had brought from the United States. In a few days came the viceroy's acknowledgment of the gift. "I myself am not in the habit of eating that species of dog, but I may say that my suite had it served for breakfast, and accorded it unqualified praise."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Wireless Saved Lives.

The wonders of wireless telegraphy are endless. Another striking proof of the value of this marvelous invention happened a few days ago. Captain William Blind of the steamship America has reported that while at sea a wireless message was received from the steamer Welgka, bound for Bremen 500 miles distant, that captain and crew were suffering from "cramps, chills and fever," and asking for help from a doctor. Diagnosing the case as ptomaine poisoning, the ship's doctor prescribed by wireless the use of opium tablets and other remedies and those afflicted on the Welgka recovered speedily.

Died Many Deaths.

Our colleague, the Nomad, in his column the other day explained how the lithotype machine occasionally fails to drop a letter in response to the operator's touch on the key. The result of such a failure is sometimes striking; as, for example, in this item from an exchange.

"The death occurred yesterday of Dr. William Stirling, one of the most killed surgeons in the south of Ireland."—Boston Transcript.

ARE ROBBED AT ASHLEY

The Bismarck high school basketball team, back from its long and successful holiday trip, is in splendid condition for the hard games to follow in the near future. The team plays Valley City here on January 11, and the game is expected to be one of the hardest of the season. Valley City won from Bismarck on the trip, 20 to 12.

Six of the eight players who made the trip came back with the team, and returned with praise for the excellent condition of the team during the trip. Coach Swanson, then, was constituted largely of good basketball and fast and easy for the rest of the players. The team was left back on the trip, still suffering from illness, returned to Bismarck on the trip. Bismarck scored 293 points to 109 for all opponents on the trip.

Start of the trip on Monday, December 18, the team went to Napoleon, where, after a victory was secured, through playing was a side what difficult to be out of the small gymnasium. But it was official at this time. Good treatment was being accorded at Napoleon in practically every place visited.

At which time there was a big crowd out. The Bismarck team is stronger than the score indicates, and the same was said to be true of Ashley, which plays Bismarck on the local floor later on.

The players have a keen memory of their visit to Ashley, however, for better or for ill. Someone entered the door of the gym, and went through the pocket of all players, but Alfson and Doyle, the two tallest, about 8'3". The six men were "cleaned".

Julia Has Heavy Team.
At Kilm the team met the Kilm Independents, which has three men weighing around 200 pounds each and two weighing around 180 pounds. One had played in college and three had played on Kilm's army camp. Bismarck took the game, 15 to 11.

At Larch the team found a big crowd and an exceedingly slippery floor which made play difficult. The hardest game of the trip was at Valley City, where the team met perhaps the best high school team in the state on the basis of scores of the present season. The local players fought hard, but lost 20 to 12. The game was played on the floor of the Valley City high school gymnasium, said to be the best gym in the state. A great crowd was out for the game.

It was necessary for the team to make some jumps by automobile in order to make train connections. The party drove from Larch to Enderlin by car on good roads and from Kilm to Enderlin in a snowstorm.

A surprise was encountered at the Drake game, after a long and tiring train ride. The Drake team showed up as one of the best local players have met this year, and held Bismarck to a 15 to 12 score. The Drake team hopes to meet Bismarck again in the state basketball meet at Swanwick's statement.

The one unfortunate incident of the trip was the Wilton game, which was forfeited, 2 to 0, to Wilton by the referee after Coach Swanson took the Bismarck team off the floor. Wilton's explanation of the affair was given in The Tribune yesterday.

Coach Swanson today said he would protect the game. He said that he took his team off the floor because of inept officiating which made it impossible for the Bismarck team to play at all. He said that 21 fouls had been called on Bismarck to 1 on Wilton, while the eight players of the Bismarck team in all other games in which they had participated had made but 10 fouls. He said the Bismarck players couldn't come in contact with a Wilton player without suffering a called foul. He said he would make the referee's point.

Billy Evans Says

Is it worth while to place victory ahead of sportsmanship?

In all probability "Pepper" Martin of Brooklyn, who is regarded as a contender for the featherweight title, no longer thinks so.

Sport enthusiasts proved to the satisfaction of Martin the other evening that boxing fans have no cheers for a victory gained in an unsportsmanlike manner.

There are some who will argue that victory is the big thing no matter how it is gained. That is all wrong. Often the vanquished boxer leaves the ring a much bigger fellow than the victor.

Martin met Johnny Dwyer in New York recently. Dwyer was knocked out in the second round. It was a decisive victory. It was 10 minutes before Dwyer could leave the ring.

When Martin jumped over the ropes after being declared the winner, there was no wild cheering to acclaim his feat. On the contrary, hissing and booing was the style of greeting that Martin was forced to listen to as he wended his way to the dressing room.

The knockout came in the second round. The two fighters had been exchanging low blows. Martin had been the worst offender. While it is certain that none of the fouls was intentional, Martin decided that an apology was necessary.

Martin, as is customary with boxers, extended his right hand to Dwyer in a spirit of conciliation. Dwyer took the proffered hand, and the two shook hands as an indication that neither bore any ill feeling.

The action of Martin in extending his hand, and Dwyer in accepting it, pleased the crowd. It was an indication of good sportsmanship. The crowd voiced its approval with loud applause for both of the boxers.

Scarcely had the careers died out when Martin put over the knockout. It is usually customary after fighters shake hands over matters of this sort for the men to stop back, as they do when the referee causes them to break after a clinch. Barely had the hand clasp ended when Martin shot over a snappy left to the chin, and Dwyer, who had not had time to get his guard up, took the count.

It was sharp practice on the part of Martin. While there is nothing in the rules that definitely covers such an act, it is always in the province of the referee to use his own judgment.

The crowd didn't like the unsportsmanlike tactics and gave Martin, who was a big favorite with the crowd before the fight started, a receipt on that must have made him feel uncomfortable.

The action of Martin in taking advantage of Dwyer recalls to mind the bout between Kid McCoy and Herr Placke. McCoy was outwitted by 60 pounds. For two rounds McCoy did nothing but dodge punches.

McCoy then decided to use a little strategy. As Placke started to rush at McCoy, the "Kid" remarked:

"Wait a minute, your shoe is on tied." Placke stopped in his tracks, and gave a started look at his footgear. As he did so, McCoy hit him a right-hand punch on the chin that knocked Placke out for 15 minutes.

PICKS THORPE AS GREATEST FOOTBALL PLAYER

BY BILLY EVANS
Who is the greatest football player of all time?

There is a question that will create endless argument.

There is sure to be a wide difference of opinion.

Recently Coach Howard Jones of Iowa said that he never saw a better all-around back field man than Arthur Devine.

Coach Williams of Minnesota made a like statement relative to the Iowa star.

Coach Jones said he would be willing to go back 20 years and place Devine on any All-America team ever selected and feel that he was entitled to such a position of honor.

The sensational play of Killinger of Penn State during the season just closed has caused a lot of eastern experts to rate him as the greatest running back in the history of the game.

Now comes Glen Warner, famous coach of the University of Pittsburgh, one of the greatest football mentors in the history of the game, with his choice as the greatest football player of all time.

Who does Coach Warner pick? None other than Jim Thorpe, he of Carlisle school fame.

Glen Warner coached the Carlisle Indians for years and developed some of the greatest players the game has ever produced, among them Jim

Now if they could induce Connie Mack—

It's not so much what Frasee has done, it's—"what is he gonna do?"

Instead of the customary "N. Y." monogram on the Giants' next season they will wear 8.

Have you ever heard tell of ice baseball?

In some towns 'tis really a crime. And outside of skates it is really the same.

As when played in the hot summer days.

Once a batter slid up to the old frozen plate.

And whanged out a single (just right).

But he skated so fast that he went right on past.

And dropped through a hole out of sight.

At second the shortstop was waitin'. The umpire was also perched there. And the ump frozen dumb, shouted, "You'll be out when you come up for air."

Mandan defeated Steele 14 to 4 at Steele last night in basketball. Steele failed to score in the second half.

IS FOOTBALL SPORT FOR GIRLS?

Two girl teams played football at Sudbury, England, in a match arranged officially to show whether the game is too much for girls. Physicians who made the test examination voted to let 'em play. Picture shows a kick during the game.

Thorpe. Here is what Warner thinks of Thorpe:

Great Tribute to Thorpe
"On the football field Jim Thorpe was never equaled. He is the greatest player the game has ever produced."

"I never knew a player who could penetrate the line like Thorpe. He seems to sense the hole through which to break."

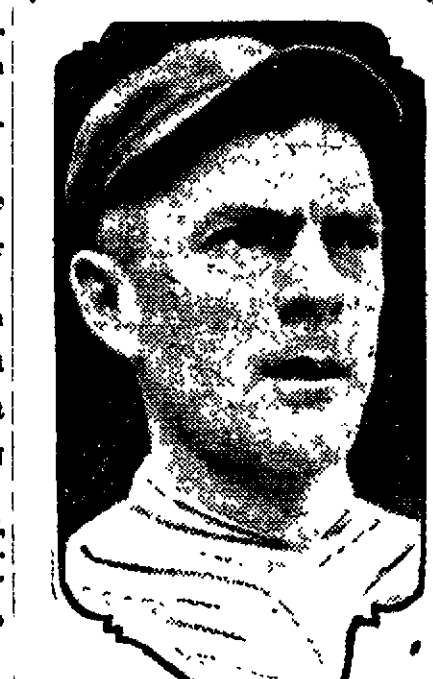

"As for speed, no football player ever carried the ball down the field with the dazzling speed of Thorpe. 'Killinger' has been mentioned as the greatest running back in the history of the game. The Penn star is a great player. However, those who confer the honor on him of being the greatest running back of all time certainly never saw Thorpe in action."

"He could go skidding through first and second defense, knock off a tackler or two, stop short, turn past another and escape the entire pack. When tackled he could go further with a man hanging on his legs than any player I ever saw."

"Jim Thorpe was a born football player. He knew everything that a football player could be taught, and then he could execute the plays better than any coach ever dreamed of."

That is the opinion of Glen Warner. It is certainly some tribute. Jim Thorpe is now around the 40 mark, but as a professional player he is still a brilliant performer.

TIGER STAR ON MARKET

Bobby Veach, hard-hitting outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, is on the market.

Howard Ehmke, who has one of the most deceptive fast balls any big league pitcher ever boasted of, is also to figure in a trade.

Manager Cobb of the Detroit club says that he can land high in the first division, if he secures a second baseman and shortstop capable of filling the bill.

In all probability Veach and Ehmke will be used in a trade that will bring a couple of infielders to the Tigers.

A few years ago the Boston Red Sox would have traded Scott to the Tigers for Veach. Such a deal was proposed. Just now Scott would help materially in making the Tigers a first division possibility. His sale to New York may kill any chance Detroit had of getting him.

Others talked about for second base are Jack Knight who has played on various American League clubs, and Marty Krug who had a brief trial with the Boston Red Sox.

John Mitchell, who subbed for Roper Peckinpah at short, is said to be the player desired in a trade for Ehmke. Mitchell might help the Tigers. Ehmke would certainly be useful to the Yankees. The latter fellow is a great pitcher and is going to prove it to the world some day.

15 BASKETBALL GAMES FRIDAY, 6 ON SATURDAY

Most Teams Along The Northern Pacific Line Play Among Selves

Pasket ball play for the coming week confines itself almost exclusively to the final days of the week. Fifteen games have been announced on different schedules for Friday night, and a half dozen have been announced for Saturday night. Some of the normal schools get into action and all the colleges are announced with the exception of Jamestown. The college games, however, are more or less of the practice variety.

The special interest seems to be among the teams along the line of the Northern Pacific. Most of these teams get into action against each other. Valley City, last year's state champions, move westward and play Bismarck and Mandan. Jamestown is at Fargo, Dickinson is at Beach and Belfield at Glen Ullin. Bismarck met the Valley City team on its own floor during the holiday barnstorming trip, the state champions winning. Mandan has not yet met defeat and the two days play of the three teams will be basis for a large amount of dope.

Mint takes a two days jaunt along the Soo line to the north meeting Kenmare and Bawbells, while the Great Northern's attractions are Cando at Devils Lake, University Model High School at Grafton and Crookston, Minn., at Grand Forks.

In the college field, Wahpeton Science at the University, Moorhead Normal at the Agricultural College, and Valley City Teachers at Fargo College are the announced games.

The weeks schedule follows:
January 12
Valley City Teachers at Fargo College.
January 13
Sheldon at Ellendale.
Valley City at Bismarck.
Wimbledon at Courtenay.
Jamestown at Fargo.

BANK OPENS FOR WOMEN ONLY IN CLEVELAND, O.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 7.—The old joke about a woman's bank being her stockings passed out with the opening here on Jan. 1 of Ohio's first women's bank, catering especially to women, with women alone to guide its policies, and its employees from tellers to janitress and all office women.

The Women's Saving Bank & Loan Co. will be its name. It is capitalized at $1,000,000.

Miss Flora Haroff Andrews is the president.

Women have been successful in other business, so why should they not be successful bankers? Miss Lillian Westropp, attorney, and legal adviser of the bank, the originator of the Women's bank idea said.

DOUBTING BOSSES GIVEN THE PROOF

Paris, Jan. 7.—The excuse "my train was late," for arriving at the office long after the usual hour can be substantiated in Paris. Every morning when a train brings suburban commuters late into the Gare St. Lazare, an official stands at the end of the platform giving to all who ask for them slips of paper stating how many hours or minutes the train was late.

These can be shown by the holders to doubting bosses.

These companies were formerly operated by English, Belgian and French companies and formed the heart of the Ukrainian industry.

The AMERICAN LEGION

"HOBBED" TO GET POINTERS

David McCallib, Texas Veteran, Makes "Blind Baggage" Trip to Aid Ex-Service Men.

Jobless and penniless, hundreds of ex-service men in the West are "riding the rods" from place to place in search of employment. While others talked about doing something for them, David McCallib, young war veteran of Dallas, Tex., made a long trip as a "hobo" to get first-hand information about the means of helping them that would be acceptable to all.

"I rode the blinds and side-door pullmans for 800 miles over the M. K. & T., Santa Fe and Texas and Pacific railroads," McCallib reported to the American Legion authorities of Texas handling the unemployment problem. "I noted three outstanding things in the six-day trip. First, the real, old-time hobo of the back door variety has almost disappeared. Second, there were a large number of young men who were too young to have entered the army. The majority of the men riding the rods were of this class. Third, there was a comparatively small number of ex-service men on the rods. They were noticeably untrained in the ways of hobbling."

WAS ONLY COMIC OPERA WAR

Americans Experienced Odd Provisions When Joining Spanish Legion Against Moors.

It was just a comic opera war anyhow, according to 83 young Americans who have returned to New York from whence they sailed two months ago to join the Spanish Foreign Legion for service against the Moors. The would-be Foreign Legionnaires were represented in numbers among ex-service men applying to the American Legion employment bureau for any kind of work.

After enlistment in New York, the recruits, almost all of whom had served overseas with the American army, were sent to Ceuta, Africa. There they were informed for the first time that out of their pay of 412 pesetas a day (about 80 cents) they must buy their own uniform, food, even arms and ammunition.

"It was the funniest war you ever saw," declared George Dimond of Brooklyn, who explained that the harder you fought the more it would cost you for ammunition. If a man fought very hard he would soon be deeply in debt to the Spanish government. If, on the other hand, he conserved ammunition and tried to save money, he stood excellent chances of being picked off by a Moor. Besides all that, the Americans, who thought they were to be officers, were assured that they were welcomed only as privates.

FREE LEGAL AID FOR NEEDY

Loy J. Mollumby, Commander of Montana Post, First to Sue in Behalf of Wounded.

The first man in the United States to file suit against the government in behalf of wounded soldiers was Loy J. Mollumby, young attorney of Great Falls, Mont. He won his case, which was to obtain hospital treatment and compensation for a service man who became insane as a result of his war experience.

A second suit against the government has been filed by Mollumby in favor of Chris Tuss, service man, who died of tuberculosis. This action seeks to secure payment of war risk insurance to the young man's needy dependents. The government claims that the disease was contracted after Tuss' discharge and after his insurance had lapsed. Mollumby contends that he contracted tuberculosis while in the army.

Mollumby, commander of his American Legion post in Great Falls, has set up a free legal aid bureau for all sick and wounded ex-service men.

Wants More Land Opened.

For every government farm available today there are 100 service men standing in line, according to Secretary of the Interior Fall, who has informed the American Legion that the government is unable in any degree to satisfy the "back-to-the-farm" craving of former soldiers and sailors without additional legislation. The Legion is endeavoring to have more land opened to settlement for service men.
